COUNTY HALL and KING ARTHUR'S ROUND TABLE. The Great Hall is part of the Castle begun by William the Conqueror, and enlarged and completed by Henry III., 1235. It is a fine example of domestic architecture on a grand scale of that period. It is 110 feet long by 45 feet wide, with aisles and clustered columns of Purbeck marble, and beautiful two-light windows. At the west end, above the remains of the royal dais, hangs the famous Round Table, 17 feet in diameter, a relic known to have existed in the 13th century, and probably older.
